What did you see as needing action or help?

Where did you get your idea for action from?

Who did you consult with before deciding on the action?

2. What you did:

What did you set out to do and what actions did you take?

How did you carry out these actions and what did you do differently?

What roles did people in your community play?

3. Progress you have seen:

What did you learn and discover?

What evidence do you have of positive change or that your actions made difference?

Were the changes as you had planned and expected, or did you have unexpected outcomes?

4. What you may do next:

What did you learn that may provide strategies to build on your success?

What potential is there to gain additional support from other partners in your community?

Do the actions and outcomes have application to wider communities than your own?
